OSH was packed with fun activities last week. The mad scientists in the group held a wacky experiment using milk, food colouring and soap. They tested out how various milks reacted differently to the concoction. One OSH member then suggested using paper to transfer the colours onto and turned the science activity into an art activity. What an amazing idea Harriette White!

The artists in the group got very messy on Wednesday as we used shaving cream and paint to create abstract designs onto leaf shaped paper. The artists were instructed to spread shaving cream into their trays, then pour paint onto the cream creating different patterns. They then carefully laid the paper leaf onto the mixture. Once the paper was covered the leaf was lifted up and the shaving cream was scraped off leaving a fantastic pattern of paint behind.

Toorak OSH is very excited to announce we are running a holiday program for the up and coming school holiday. Don't forget to book in online using the Kidsoft portal. Feel free to grab a brochure next to the sign in iPad in the Hall or ask our OSH staff about our exciting activities planned. Don't miss out!!
